

Herman Miller announces 2011 Design Awards finalists

ARRAS™ AND SAYL™ NAMED AS FINALISTS IN THE 2011 AUSTRALIAN INTERNATIONAL DESIGN AWARDS

Herman Miller is pleased to announce that new products Arras and SAYL have been named as finalists in the 2011 Australian International Design Awards.

The Australian International Design Awards are recognised as being one of the longest standing and most prestigious design awards in the world. The awards, a division of Good Design Australia, reward companies that differentiate their products and services through design. Arras and SAYL join 127 finalists in this year's awards.

Arras and SAYL are the latest products in the Herman Miller portfolio. Arras is a bench solution borne out of our increasingly nomadic yet socially connected lifestyle. It enables you to sit anywhere and at any time, is available in a gorgeous palette of colours and finishes and allows infinite expressions for designers to create a visual feast. SAYL is designed by Yves Béhar and is an affordable task chair that incorporates everything Herman Miller is known for: innovative design, leading ergonomics, quality engineering and environmental stewardship. Already widely acclaimed, SAYL was described as the "iMac of the chair world" by The Independent and named in Treehugger's 'Best of Green' awards earlier this year.

Winners of the 2011 Australian International Design Awards will be announced on July 22nd as part of Victoria's State of Design Festival, so stay tuned for an update.
